

Fuse Research Event

Celebrating women #EmbracingEquity in the North East

International Women's Day 2023

Wednesday 8 March 2023, 10.15am-1.30pm

Recovery College Collective (ReCoCo), No.1 Carlol Square, Newcastle Upon Tyne, NE1 6UF

DRAFT PROGRAMME

10.15-10.30	Registration and Coffee
10.30-10.35	Welcome & housekeeping Dr Hayley Alderson
10.35-11.00	Joanne McGrath, Doctoral student – Fuse, NIHR School for Public Health Research (SPHR) / Applied Research Collaboration North East and North Cumbria (ARC NENC), Northumbria University, with Trudi and Sue, experts by experience. “Once you owe something they can take anything”: women’s experiences of hidden homelessness and social networks
11.00-11.25	Claire Smiles, Doctoral student – Fuse, Newcastle University Exploring the reproductive health and social care needs of women who use drugs and alcohol in the North East. Findings from the ‘Women’s Sexual Wellbeing’ study. Donna Kay, Patient and Public Involvement Lead (WSW) Poetry reading
11.25-11.50	Amy Van Zyl, Chief Executive -REFORM Wider Health inequalities of child removal and how to overcome it This session will give an overview of the public health cost associated with child removal as well as the voice of lived experience. The session will review health inequalities for women post child removal as well as what promotes recovery from it. Including the voices of lives experience
11.50-12.00	Comfort and refreshment break
12.00-12.25	Sarah Charlton and Beverly Hunter McEwan, Changing Future Northumbria “What Matters to Me”
12.25-13.00	Workshop session ‘Iceberg Model’ of support

13.00-13.10	Joanne McGrath and Claire Smiles Messages of hope
13.10-13.45	Close and lunch available

Tweet about the event using #FuseRE / #embracingequity / #IWD2023

Follow Fuse @fuse_online